

On November 29, 2017, a scientific and methodical meeting «Media School of a Modern Teacher» was held, the supervisor of it was L.V.Petryk, a senior lecturer of Foreign Languages and Methodology Department. The topic «Critical Thinking» was presented for the discussion according to the work plan.

In the process of work the concepts «critical thinking» and «media message» were clarified by future teachers; the key ideas of creation of media messages were outlined; the stages of development of critical thinking were analyzed and the didactic importance of media messages in the formation of primary school students' foreign language abilities was discussed.

At the meeting it was determined that during the period of rapid development of the informational space it is urgent to form younger students' media literacy through the integration of media in various educational subjects, foreign languages in particular.

Students also realized that critical thinking, as thinking of higher order, is the basis for personal's media literacy.

Welcome to cooperation!
